Political Pot Boiling.

Discordant Elements.

They Command but Little Attention.

STILL BOOMING.

Take Them away!

The political pot in Ohio continues to boil, its temperature rising as the summer months glide softly by, and that day on which, according to Senator Voorhees, "the people rule without the aid of bayonets to keep the peace at the polls"—election day approaches.
Prior to the meeting of the Cincinnati Convention much speculation was indulged in by political wiseacres here and in the Buckeye State as to the status of the German, the Norwegian and the Irish vote in the coming election, and candidates for official honors were urged by their friends (and they all had friends), their claims reviewed, discussed, rejected or accepted, according to their ability to harmonize and lead these discordant elements to victory. One candidate, it is alleged, was thrown overboard because it was thought he would not be acceptable to the Germans, he having a few years ago been somewhat conspicuous in his opposition to the practice of keeping open on Sunday the German's paradise—the beer garden. Another shared the same fate because while a member of Congress he incurred the displeasure of the Bohemian element of his district by his omission to appoint any of their number to office. The whole matter was, however, settled by the selection of "on. Charles Foster as the standard bearer of the Republican party, being considered the least objectionable to any of the classes just referred to, as well as the most available candidate for other reasons unnecessary to state here.
But it now seems that an element, somewhat numerous in the State, who cast about 20,000 votes and is, in that State, the balance of power, are not altogether as unanimous as one could wish in the support of the ticket nominated at Cincinnati. Some of them complain that they did not receive the consideration to which their voting strength entitled them at the hands of the convention; in short, that their wishes, prejudices, or whatever you choose to term them, were neither respected or consulted. In this, I think, our people are in error; their objections to the candidates—whatever these objections may be—should have been urged before and not after the convention.
They cannot now with any show of consistency plead want of opportunity to make their sentiments known and felt by those who controlled the convention; for this they enjoyed to as great an extent as other classes, and if they have failed to utilize their political prerogatives at the proper time they should not now plead the baby act.
But the dissenters are, in my judgment, few and for the most part inactive; the bulk of our people notwithstanding these complaints, will support the ticket and give the party its usual majority. There is a conviction, and I was about to say a just conviction, in the minds of political leaders that the average colored voter seldom sees his opportunity, and when seeing it, seldom grasps and utilizes it at high tide; he either fritters away the auspicious moment, and then, finding himself outwitted and overridden complains and sulks. But as his political wounds are always healed by listening to two or three red hot campaign speeches, but little attention is paid to him.

The friends of President Grant are busily engaged in making preparation for the reception of that great chieftain, who, it is said, is now on his way home and will be met on his arrival at San Francisco by a delegation of several thousand admirers. "The old man," as his friends familiarly style him, is expected to make things "boom" in the presidential field, and clear it of much of the doubt and uncertainty which has heretofore existed.

The Spofford-Kellogg investigation has for some time occupied an important place in public attention and for first-class contradictory cross-fire swearing is unexampled in courts of law, of equity, or of legislative investigations. Mr. Merrick, the great criminal lawyer, whose experience in matters of this sort, has been large, was so completely overcome by the twisting and windings of his own witnesses that at one point in the investigation he raised his hands and cried:
"Take them away! take them away!" More anon.

DELTA, June 9, 1879.

From reports the beautiful custom of decorating the graves of Federal soldiers was observed throughout the country. One marked exception, however, was at Vicksburg where hundreds of the fallen heroes lies slumbering in their graves. The day was not observed with our neighbors across the way and the only allusion to the day by the Vicksburg Herald was that "this is a National holiday and the postoffice will be closed." The citizens of Vicksburg were not quite so patriotic as when they asked for and obtained of the Federal government $30,000 to build a road to the National Cemetery which they also use for a pleasure drive.

Maj. Dabney is in charge of the government works here and proposes to commence work on the jetties at Delta, La., in about two weeks. He desires to push the work while the river is at its low stage and will give work to 300 men. This undertaking is a scheme to protect the harbor of Vicksburg and the project contemplates the sinking of large willow or brush mattresses in the river near King's Point so as to expel the current from the banks on the rear of Delta and force deep water up to the front of Vicksburg. The "cut off" leaves Vicksburg at this season without a water front and nothing but a perogone can navigate along the front of the Hill City. All steamers are compelled to make the round of the island and navigate the old channel, which led to Vicksburg previous to the "cut off" making their landing about 10 miles above the city to which place the wharf boat has been removed.
The elevator is left high and dry and is of no service except as a relic of the good old times when the river front of Vicksburg presented a lively scene of bustle and trade. Vicksburg is in great danger of being isolated by the great father of waters, and the thought suggests itself whether or not the scheme of the government can avert the sad fate in store for the "heroic city."

Deserving of Censure.

Quite a Surprise.

Nothing to Do With It.

At Alcorn University.

Ex-Senator Revels.

DELTA, LA., June 23, 1879.

EDITOR LOUISIANIAN:

In pursuance of previous notice given the Str. "E. C. Carroll Jr." departed from the waves of Vicksburg last Tuesday evening with an excursion party for "Alcorn University" via Rodney, Miss. Your correspondent joined the excensionists at Delta. There was attached to the Steamer a barge well covered over head with seats arranged to accommodate comfortably a large number of persons.
The Eureka Silver Cornet Band and Prof. Neute Neally's String Band, of Vicksburg, accompanied the excursion. There were not very many on the excursion and the affair can not be said to have been a financial success. That it was not more generally patronized will cause but little regret when it is known that the excursion was gotten up by a few individuals in no way connected with Alcorn University and purely a matter of speculation on their part. The trip to Rodney was anything but pleasant or agreeable to respectable families, and the managers are deserving of severe censure for the indignity and shame ladies were subjected to on board by low and abandoned negro women of Vicksburg and their white paramours.
Their disgraceful conduct under the eye of the officers of the boat compelled ladies and children to take to their state rooms to avoid witnessing it. After spending one half the night at Grand Gulf awaiting the arrival of the train from Port Gibson, Rodney was reached at about half past nine o'clock Wednesday morning. Vehicles were in readiness to transport the excursionists to the University, a distance of 6 1/2 miles, for one dollar the round trip. This extra charge was quite a surprise to every one as the managers had announced on their hand bills that "ample arrangements have been made to convey the excursionists to the University free of charge."

It is proper to add here that on arriving at the University President Revels at once disavowed all connection with the excursion for himself and every one associated with him, very much to the credit of the Institution. Mr. Phillip Joseph of Delta also desires to have it known that his name was put on the bills as one of the Committee of the Excursion without his knowledge or consent and that he has had nothing to do with the getting up or managing of the affair. Let us turn from the unpleasant phase of this subject to the more agreeable duty of accounting for the day spent at the University. The commencement exercises were held in the Chapel and there was a large and intelligent audience present. There were quite a number of whites present who seemed to take a great interest in the proceedings. The students acquitted themselves creditably and the music by the choir was excellently well rendered. Miss Minnie Revels presided over the organ with grace and ability. The annual address of Prof. W. S. Montgomery was a master piece of learning and eloquence of which its author may justly be proud. Ex-Congressman John R. Lynch delivered an able address on the subject of education, and it was listened to with marked interest by the assemblage.

The exercises were brought to a close with the cathechetic class after which the Silver Cornet Band from Vicksburg discoursed sweet music. President Revels then welcomed in brief and appropriate remarks the excursionists. This Institution was originally named after its present President by the Legislature of Mississippi and at his request was changed to its present name in honor of the Governor of the State at that time.

Ex-Governor Alcorn fostered the University in its infancy and has ever manifested a readiness to promote its growth and welfare. The Professors are all colored young men of religious habits and inclinations. The University is said to be in a prosperous condition, financially and is managed on the most economical basis. President Revels is the founder of the "mess plan" which enables students to remain at the University at the nominal charge of $1.25 per week for board and washing, and but for this "mess" arrangement many would be too poor to educate themselves at this College. There are now 127 pupils in attendance which speaks well for the popularity and unremitting efforts of the President, who, on the expiration of the presidential term of Dr. C. H.
Thompson, found the attendance down to 20. President Revels is prosecuting assiduously his newly founded schemes of establishing an Agricultural College in connection with the University and the project bids fair to become a permanent success. Ex-U. S. Senator Revels is deserving of the highest praise for his constant and untiring labor in behalf of the cause of education, and the good people of Mississippi owe him gratitude.
Your correspondent, and accompanying ladies, acknowledge their obligations to Madame and the Misses Revels for kind and generous hospitality which will contribute largely in molding the most pleasant recollections of our visit to Alcorn University.

SIWAN.
We must positively decline to take in exchange for advertisements, pianos, organs, sewing machines, &c., on which we must pay in cash at least twice the amount of the advertising bill. Such advertisements will pay neither printers' bills nor for paper. A live editor has no time to act as auctioneer, sewing machine agent, &c. No more of that for us.—People's Advocate.

To all of which we heartily respond, and in addition thereto would say it pays no sort of pri-ters' bills to issue "sample" copies of a newspaper. This nuisance of begging for a paper under the guise of "sample" has simply become intolerable; and we warn all, near and far, our patience is exhausted in being compelled to glance daily at postal cards and letters which unblushingly request copies of the LOUISIANIAN without the accompanying cash. Whenever we can afford to publish a free newspaper, we will give due notice; but till then we beg leave to say "you pays your money and you gets your paper."

—The mills of the Gods grind slowly. Wadleigh, the New Hampshire nonentity, who has been representing that State for the last six years in the Senate of the United States, has been relegated to the shades of private life. W. E. C.
Chandler did the work for poor Bainbridge.

Items of Interest.

—Louisville has 8 lodges of Odd Fellows.

—Mobile was recently visited by a $125,000 fire.

—If we are to have colored schools, give us colored teachers.

—Our people continue to enrich railroad corporations. Excursions are all the rage.

—Rev. A. M. Green has fairly commenced work at St. James Chapel, on Roman street.

—Memphis has 45,000 citizens and only twenty-four policemen to preserve the public peace. Good city.

—Emigrants from the Old Country continue to arrive. An exchange reports 3,155 arrivals last week.

—The last slave sold brought 900 head of cabbage near Richmond, Va., in 1865. The cabbage were worth one dollar a head.

—St. Louis has two newspapers owned, controlled and edited by colored men, viz: the Freeman's Journal and the Tribune.

—The colored people of this State pay taxes on $25,000,000 worth of property. No other State in the Union can say as much for her colored citizens.

—Kellogg and Jonas have had their tilt. Kellogg says both of them are carpet-baggers, and that he has paid more taxes in five years than Jonas did in fifteen.

—Ex-United States Senator Timothy Howe is living at his pleasant home in Green Bay, Wis. There is some talk of making him Senator Cameron's successor in 1881.

—Joseph Mates, a colored man living in Chambersburg, Pa., has invented a fire escape and ladder combined, which is attracting general attention. We are coming.

—Parties desiring the report of the proceedings of the Conference recently held in Nashville can procure a copy of the same by writing to John W. Cromwell, Washington, D. C., and enclosing twenty five cents.

—Senator Garland, of Arkansas, has introduced a bill to wind up the affairs of the Freedmen's Bank, and asks for an appropriation of $250,000 to purchase the magnificent property it owns, for the use of the general government. If that bill passes the commissioners will be able to pay another dividend.

—The Progressive American severely criticizes the exodus meeting held in Cooper Institute, N. Y., gotten up by the Rev. (?) T. W.
Conway, in the interest of the Kansas emigrants. There was plenty of talk, but only fifty one dollars was realized—not enough, the American says, "to pay Conway's and Turner's hotel and wine bills."

—The Clatsop Guardian publishes a communication from two colored men in Minden, who are raising money for the purpose of building an institution of learning.
They recently held a convention to discuss the matter. They have appealed to the whites to aid them, and say "we are willing to help the white people when we are called on, and we are ever ready."

—Nashville is ahead of all the cities in the country in the matter of having advanced institutions of learning for colored people. She is the "Athens of America." Washington city comes next. She has fine schools buildings and a large attendance; but brother Cromwell of the Advocate says there is too much "cramming" done. We always thought the schools were of a high order.

The addresses delivered at the Garrison memorial service, for lack of space in this issue, will appear next week.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to be present at the commencement exercises of Southland College at Helena, Ark. We regret our inability to be present, but desire to return thanks for the kind remembrance.

The fourth annual announcement of the Meharry medical department of the Central Tennessee College, at Nashville, Tenn., for the session of 1879 and '80 has been received. It is the only institution of its kind in the Mississippi Valley where our colored youth can receive the necessary instruction for that profession. It deserves to be supported and encouraged.

DELEGATE DENNIS has fairly earned the reputation of being the happiest in retort of any member of the Convention; he rarely fails to set the house on a roar. On last Wednesday the Picayune having indulged in a criticism not relished by him, in a neat little speech, as a question of privilege, he administered that paper a severe rebuke.

The Republican Congressional Committee are prepared to furnish copies of the recent speeches made in Congress by leading Republican statesmen for six dollars per thousand, which is forty per cent below cost. The demand for them has been so great that the committee cannot afford to furnish them gratuitously. Parties desiring copies can address the Secretary, Hon. Wm. E. Chandler at No. 1317 F. St. Washington, D. C.

Some of the young ladies belonging to the Normal School have taken exception to the little paragraph published by our innocent local reporter in our last issue, relative to the postponement of the graduating exercises on account of the American Club picnic. They think the matter of sufficient gravity to have it corrected and we cheerfully do so. They postpone anything? No, never. At least, hardly ever. They were well represented at the picnic though. The exercises will take place at Minerva hall, Monday, June 30.

We do not see why the Senator from New York did not "fall on" the gentleman from Mississippi, and give him a severe trouncing. Things have come to a pretty pass when a Senator cannot denounce a party or its policy without touching the "honah" of one of its Southern members. The truth is, the stinging words uttered by Mr. Conkling had the effect of showing to the people of the country a higher type of the bulldozing our people have experienced when opposing these gentlemen here in the South. This quarrel will bear its legitimate fruit in time, and we opine our Southern friends will not like it.

Power of Agitation.

We have been moved to write on this subject, because two or three of our colored exchanges cannot see where the conference recently held at Nashville, Tenn., has benefited anybody or anything but railroad corporations, and a few boarding-house keepers in that city. Too penurious, perhaps, to attend its sittings, and too short sighted to intelligently see and understand the gravity of our present situation, they have labored incessantly to make the people believe, in their respective localities, that a few leaders called it to make themselves "available" in the next political campaign. They have completely ignored the fact that politics did not enter largely into the questions discussed, and that not a single political resolution was passed. The presence of such a large number of delegates representing so many varied interests and sections of the Union, coming together to intelligently lay before the country their grievances and wrongs, was enough in itself to command admiration and respect.

In another column will be found the proceedings of a memorial meeting held in honor of William Lloyd Garrison, and all over our broad land similar meetings have been held. Garrison was essentially an agitator. The country knows, and our race believes, that it was his bold and defiant utterances, and those with whom he was associated, that slowly but surely moulded public sentiment in favor of the emancipation of the blacks. He did not stop to avenge the insults or repel the attacks made upon him by thoughtless and narrow-minded people. He knew the right and he knew it would finally triumph over injustice and wrong. The beauty and harmony of his life lies in the fact that he pursued peaceful measures in his great struggle. He exposed and denounced successfully so firmly rooted an evil as American slavery.

These meetings, we repeat, are tributes to the force and power of agitation as exemplified in the life and character of Garrison. The Conference at Nashville was, in a certain sense, an assemblage of men who came together to agitate the questions so necessary for the education, protection and advancement of their race. Even if it could do no more than pass resolutions and adjourn, why, that was something accomplished, although perhaps unseen and unfelt at present. The faults and shortcomings of chronic objectors should not blind them to the fact that every great reform that has taken place in any country or any age has been brought about by these very means. When any measure or policy has been foisted upon a people by the arbitrary exercise of power, before the fear of public sentiment was ripe, it has always been followed by strife and discontent. But if the minds of the people have been first led to believe the stories of injustice and wrong, of oppression and outrage, it requires but little time to prepare a remedy and cure for the evils complained of.

Who can better lay before the country our grievances? We are free to go and come where and when we please. We have felt the keenness and injustice of wrong doing, and no one can better tell it than ourselves. It was told to the country by the Nashville Conference. We were restless and dissatisfied. The Conference proved that. We are determined to live peaceably and quietly here or go elsewhere. The Conference meant that. We want better schools, and means for the education of our children. The Conference said that. We want christian sympathy and charity and better treatment from our more fortunate white neighbors. The Conference demanded that.

Suppose the country does not respond now? Suppose its influence is not felt until those who were participants have passed away? Have we not dear ones who will come after us in this life and the life to come? The time has come in our history when we must do as other races and nationalities have done who have attained prominence and distinction. We must throw overboard those who are more able to pull down than build up the energies, resources and possibilities of this people. The time has come for action, ceaseless and untiring action. If it must be done through conventions, or conferences then hold them despite the puny and sickly protests of croakers and grumblers. Our success lies not in wasting time and energy on small game, but rather by bending our energies in a combined assault on the prejudices that now surround and circumscribe our growth.

PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

Garrison Memorial Service.

The Garrison memorial meeting convened at Central Church in accordance with the call published in the last issue of the LOUISIANIAN. At 8 o'clock p. m. a large and elite assembly filled the spacious and sacred hall, and the meeting was called to order by Col. Jas. Lewis who introduced to the audience Mr. Paul Trevigne, who had been chosen as the President of the meeting. Mr. Trevigne, in fitting and eloquent words, thanked the audience for the marked respect shown him by being called to preside over such an important and dignified body; and, considering the occasion for which the meeting was called, he deemed it the most honored and happiest moment of his life. Considering the time that might be occupied by the eloquent speakers that would entertain the assembly, he would refrain from expressing at length the sentiments which were uppermost in his heart on this occasion.

The chairman of the committee on arrangements, J. Henri Burch, Esq., then read the roll of vice-presidents and secretaries. An anthem was sung by the choir, which was followed up by a fervent prayer from Rev. A. J. Blount.

The President then introduced Mr. J. D. Kennedy as the first speaker of the occasion. Mr. Kennedy held the audience spell-bound by reading an elaborate and able document portraying the principle incidents in the life of the great man. His eloquence, logic and pathos were wonderful, considering the youth of the individual, and often elicited clamorous applause from his gratified hearers. The race may well rejoice that, through the agency of the immortal dead, young men like Mr. Kennedy have been permitted to mount the rostrum and electrify communities with his thrilling eloquence and broad research.

Hon. J. Henri Burch was introduced as the next speaker. He dwelt upon several important points made by the first speaker and elaborated upon the good deeds achieved by the illustrious dead, concluding his remarks by reciting an appropriate poem in honor of the fallen hero.

The committee on resolutions then reported a series of resolutions through the chairman which were unanimously adopted, as follows:

Whereas, That whilst the mournful cause which has had the effect of drawing us to this house of mourning, to-night, is one that fills the heart of all lovers of humanity and universal freedom with unfeigned sorrow and deep-seated grief over the loss of one of the brightest stars that has ever gemmed the constellation of freedom's firmament, still in our heart of hearts we rejoice that God, in His great wisdom and Providence, raised up this noble champion and permitted him to not only lead his "Forlorn Hope" to complete victory, but permitted him to live to see the consummation of his most devout wish, viz: the complete abolition of American slavery; and

Whereas, Through Divine visitation we have lost from this earth our life-long, tried and true friend, Wm. Lloyd Garrison, and whilst with reverence and humble mien we bow in submission to God's holy will, we linger with emotions of sacred joy over his complete triumph over wrong and injustice, and whilst his loved form is forever hid from our sight, his coffin in his rostrum, his funeral garments his sacerdotal robes, and his mute lips which were wont in life to rally the hosts of Liberty's defenders to its righteous crusade against the system of slavery, still in trumpet-toned loudness, proclaiming that his works were not in vain nor that his life-long efforts in behalf of universal liberty had been in vain; and

Whereas, Although it is not absolutely necessary that we should meet here to-night to make a public acknowledgment of the great services rendered to mankind by William Lloyd Garrison, whose works and results speak for themselves; still, as "a great man has fallen in Israel" we but meet here to-night to mingle our tear-drops with the afflicted family and utter our rejoicings with those who have been so greatly benefitted by the life and labors of our deceased benefactor; therefore be it

Resolved, That the colored citizens of Louisiana, in a land once cursed with the blights of slavery, but now redeemed, and regenerated through and by the life-long heroic efforts of Wm. Lloyd Garrison, and his compatriots feel that in his death we have lost our foremost champion, who, like a true soldier of liberty, unsheathed his sword in defense of christian humanity and liberty to the slave, and who never returned it to its scabbard until the last vestige of American slavery was blotted out from the land of his nativity.

Resolved, That in his life he exemplified the true characteristic of undaunted fortitude, indomitable perseverance, and an unyielding sense of justice in his crusade of right and liberty, against wrong and oppression, and in his final triumph he has gained for himself the noble title of champion of liberty to the American slave.

Resolved, That the death of Wm. Lloyd Garrison is one that should affect not only the race so greatly benefitted by his life's labor of love, but the entire nation and the lovers of humanity, and of universal liberty, the world over, and that memorial ceremonies should not be confined to sections, but should embrace all parts of our common country, for one of America's greatest humanitarians has gone to that bourne from which no traveler returns.

Resolved, That as a race, residents and citizens of that portion of our land experiencing the great and glorious triumph of his labors in our behalf, we view with mingled feelings of pride, veneration and esteem, his undaunted courage, in the face of determined opposition, and overwhelming numbers, his lofty and unwavering patriotism, and his brave and daring struggle with the hydra-headed monster slavery, marking him as "The noblest Roman of them all."

Resolved, That not for this occasion or time alone do we revere, his memory, his life, his labor, but, in the future looms our duty for years to come. To-night we hold memorial to his revered memory and approach our task with sacred holy awe, but rejoice in the joy and pride that there is no prouder grave in all our country's broad domains.

Resolved, That our race throughout this State humbly ask that their love, admiration, and appreciation of his life's services in their behalf, and heart sorrowings and sympathies to his bereaved family, may go out only as a slight token of their sentiments, expressive of their feelings on this occasion, and to his countrymen we leave and commend his christian, humanitarian character, to the liberated slaves of America, his labors in their behalf, to Massachusetts the honor of his grave which should be the American "Mecca" of all who admired him whilst living and revere him dead. To the grave his body, and to God his spirit.

Mr. Tucker was then introduced as the last speaker. His remarks were a masterpiece of historic research, and every word that fell from his eloquent lips seemed as a fitting gem to decorate the crown of the illustrious and immortal dead. Perhaps an abler tribute was never paid to any man living or dead, and by his lofty flights and brilliant oratorical powers, he reared up a pyramid to the memory of Garrison in the minds of his hearers which will stand the undying ages of eternity. He left the stage amidst tremendous applause.

Mr. Ruby requested, as an early companion of Mr. Garrison was present, who had known him in his boyhood days, in the person of Mr. Elias Smith, that he be invited to address the meeting. By a unanimous solicitation Mr. Smith said, whilst he thanked the audience for the kind regard shown him the lateness of the hour forbade him from taxing further the patience of such an attentive audience. Enough had been said, and eloquently, in honor of his worthy friend, and he would but quote a few words which he had often quoted to that good man, whilst living, in honor of his life-long labor of love, at the conclusion of which he was vociferously applauded.

Messrs. Vance and Johnson were then appointed to receive a liberal contribution in behalf of the church, while an anthem was being chanted in lovely strains by the choir, after which the meeting adjourned.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Thompson of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.
H. C. C. Astwood,
Acting Secretary.

THE CONVENTION during the week made considerable progress in its work. The reports of the Committee on agriculture and public education were considered on their second reading, and the former passed. The reports of the committees on limitations on the power of government, and legislative department were adopted upon their third reading. The report of the committee on health and quarantine was indefinitely postponed. The report of the committee on elective franchise, the special order of the day yesterday, is one of the questions in which the entire people are deeply concerned and of special interest to the colored citizens of the State. As there is a minority as well as a majority report on this subject, it is fair to assume that it will take sometime to effect its settlement. In the mean time we trust every friend of the people will be in his seat and aid in a final conclusion that will be in accordance with the wishes and demands of the great masses of our common people, who would regard any restriction upon their suffrage as unfriendly, proscriptive, and tyrannical; and resent the injustice by an overwhelming majority against the ratification of the constitution when it is submitted to them should the suffrage be curtailed.

THE LOUISIANIAN, Mr. Pinchback's journal, that has been a little "offish" on the exodus question, now comes out boldly and says "labor and wait." Hitherto the Progressive American has been the only colored journal that has not been carried along on the destructive flood of emigration. Now the Louisianian has awoke to its better self, and has chosen the right position.

Well, now, we never knew before we were "offish" on this important question. The present editors are pronounced against indiscriminate migration and always have been. So was the former editor, Gov. Pinchback. Down here this matter is generally understood. The LOUISIANIAN's position has always been plain and unequivocal. But then, you have to go away from home to learn the news.

—Mr. F. L. Barnett who was formerly connected with the Conservator has been commissioned a Notary Public in Chicago. So says the Conservator. He is the first colored man who has ever been appointed to that position in the State.

—A young colored man named Geo. W. Freemont was recently admitted to practice before the Bar in San Antonio, Texas. He passed a creditable examination before three prominent lawyers.

A Card.

NEW ORLEANS, June 26, 1879.

EDITOR LOUISIANIAN:

Since the Rev. Chas. H. Thompson has assumed the liberty of making the life of my son, John W. Roxborough, the subject of his discourse on Sunday the 15th inst., it becomes necessary for me to deny many biased statements, thus publicly made by him. This done, not only from a sense of justice to his memory, but to the remainder of my family now growing up.

Faith, Hope and Charity are the foundation of the christian religion; for this reason I thought it strange, that such an uncalled for and unprecedented step, should have been taken by a minister.

The Dr. committed a wanton injustice when he said my son's faults "were due, perhaps, from a lack of christian training and example."

Many deviate from the narrow path in which they were reared; but the waywardness of John W. Roxborough was not caused from a lack of christian training and example, nor from impiety instilled in his mind, during his childhood. This idea would make me ask, why is it that the sons of ministers stray so far from the path of right, can it be said, they lacked christian training and example?

My friends of this, as well as those of other cities, are well aware of the training which his father and mother received as well as his self; and Dr. Thomson's imperfect acquaintance with my family, does not warrant any such assertion regarding John W. Roxborough's remains.

It was impossible for me to allow this assumption to pass unanswered.

Very respectfully,
His Mother.

SATURDAY, JUNE 28, 1879.

In the summer the Red Bag reigneth.

MANY people complain of their memory. How many will admit of having a biased judgment?

REV. CHAS. H. THOMPSON, Rector of St. Philip's Church, will preach to-morrow evening on "Lying in general, and political lying in particular."

The Ladies Mite Society will give an entertainment for the benefit of St. Philip's Church, on July 2nd. Admission free. Come out and help them.

Who will question the right of an individual as to his selections of persons or things? Does not the same right equally belong to individuals collectively?

ORGANIZATIONS are like individuals. They receive in this world much of what they deserve. The world is like a looking-glass. Smile at it and it will smile back; frown at it and it will scowl in return.

A man and wife in Tipton, Indiana, agreed to separate. Their property was divided, piece by piece, until nothing was left but a baby and a cow. The husband gave the wife her choice, and she took the cow.

The several Spofford witnesses who have been a short time sojourning in the city of "magnificent distances," have come back. They report a gay time there, and return well pleased with their visit. The thought strikes us as to whether or no Spofford is equally as well pleased?

The picnic of the C. M. P. U's of the third ward on last Monday was very largely attended. Everything passed off harmoniously and pleasantly. Mr. John Reed and lady partner won the silver cup for prize waltzing. To Messrs. F. C. Antine and Louis Smith thanks are returned for courtesies.

THANKS to Messrs. Simms, Halton and Vazie for a complimentary ticket to attend a picnic at the Orange Grove on Monday, June 30, "for the benefit of the widow Charles." These young men deserve credit for lending their time and influence to so worthy a purpose, and should be encouraged. We wish them success.

Our fashionable young men should go to church, and not form dandy lines near the curbstones, on dress parade at the church door. If our "fearless" ministers would open a pulpit war against this practice of our "young bloods"—representatives of an aristocratic idea of "high-toned" society—they would do much to arrest this growing and despicable habit.

We take pleasure in mentioning the appointment of Mr. Ernest Longpre as United States mail route agent between New Orleans and St. Francisville. Mr. Longpre is a very deserving young man, finely educated in both the French and English languages, and well thought of in this community. We wish the young gentleman success in his new field of duty, and have no doubt that he will be an efficient officer and reflect credit on the service.

ONE word to our societies, secret, social, benevolent and political. We take particular pride in giving publicity to any entertainment given by our people, but we take to our soul the flattering notion that as an encouragement a few complimentary tickets should find their way to our office. The staff on this paper consists of three persons, and when the benevolent feelings of our patrons and friends are practically evidenced in the direction referred to, we hope that the compliments hereafter will come in by threes.

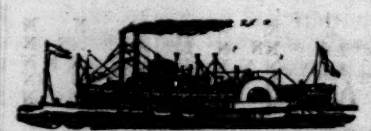

That time-honored and popular organization, the American Club, gave its second annual complimentary basket picnic at the Oakland Riding Park on last Saturday. As we have before mentioned, the announcement that this organization contemplated giving a picnic, caused a great social flutter. Dame rumor donned her gossiping cap, and glibly plied her gossiping tongue, society was all excitement and the hitherto "exceptionals" were on the qui vive impatiently awaiting the coming of the customary solicitation, but the sword of Damocles had fallen, and for once the knowing ones were non-plussed. Fully 800 invitations had been issued by the organization. All who had been "saved" were anxiously hopeful that "Probs" would smile his sweetest smiles on the endeavors of this organization of young men, whose every act portrayed a sincere desire to please and make happy a host of friends. As if imbued with the same kindly feelings, "probs" did smile his sweetest smile, and seemingly manufactured expressly for the American picnic, a most lovely day. Old Sol shone out beautifully resplendent, diffusing his refulgent rays over a score of thankful and happy pleasure seekers; and, as if to add to the comfort of the assembled votaries of the goddess of pleasure, ever and anon, as it were, he would hide his radiantly beaming face behind the floating clouds, and transmit his favor through the gentle zephyrs, wafting cooling breezes.

At the hour of four the grounds presented a highly animated and brilliant picture, laughing, playful children; beautiful blushing maidens, fascinating young widows, and happy matrons, whose smiling faces betokened pleasure and pride, were all there, forming a picture most beautiful, a description of which is well worthy a more gifted pen. On the platform to the strains of sweet music, were gathered the merry dancers, while on the lawn croquet, ball and other outdoor sports held sway. At 5 o'clock the tocsin was sounded for dinner, and the large company divided off into groups of families, and beneath the oak's wide spreading boughs appeared for the moment to satisfy the cravings of the inner man. Just as "dewy eve" came creeping upon us, the last strains of an enchanting waltz told us more plainly than words that the beautiful day was sinking to rest. With satisfaction abundant, crowds after crowds of happy people could be seen wending their joyful way homeward; and from the lips of all came the pleasant declaration, "This picnic is the social event of the season."

To Messrs. Jas. D. Kennedy, the president, Ed. J. Holmes, the chairman executive committee, Cassius C. Thornton, chairman committee on invitation, and Mr. John B. Hall, chairman reception committee, assisted by the entire membership of the organization, great credit is due for the very admirable manner in which the arrangements were carried out.

The grand Masonic picnic given on last Tuesday, at the Oakland Riding Park, was a decided success. The parade of the Masonic bodies was beautiful and creditable. At the grounds the platform was tastefully decorated with flags of different nationalities, in the midst of which hung the emblem of one of the Masonic orders. The exercises on the grounds were very fine. The Masonic oration was delivered by W. M. J. Henri Burch, "Grand Orator" of the Grand Lodge. We are sorry that circumstances prevented our presence in time to hear the oration, but from those who were there, we learn that it was a strong and masterly effort and showed, beyond a doubt, a close and accurate student of the deep and sublime mysteries of Free Masonry, and giving a clear and concise exposition of the lives and characters of the "Holy St. Johns," whose festival day the order was celebrating. This picnic, in every respect, equalled the others given by the fraternity.

ADVOCATING THE RIGHTS OF MEN,

And representing, especially, the colored citizen, the LOUISIANIAN will maintain, as a fundamental principle, the perfect equality of all citizens, without regard to race or color.

Shall be to foster kindly relations between the races, and to establish a more mutual respect for each other as the very first essential to the future peace and prosperity of our State and the South.

We enter upon our eighth year pledged to the advocacy of the

that has governed the LOUISIANIAN from the beginning. The necessity of a closer intercourse between the two classes—the colored and white people of our State—we rejoice to know, is fast becoming manifest; and, the recent emancipation of our people from the domination of political task-masters renders this desideratum possible.

HARMONY AND MODERATION

among all classes and between all interests; kindness and forbearance fostered where in dignity and resolute reign, and a common service of all the people will elevate our loved State to an enviable and rightful position among her sisters in the development of her boundless resources and matchless advantages.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM,

The LOUISIANIAN offers rare advantages to the merchant and business man. Our large and weekly increasing circulation within the State, and throughout the country, renders the service of our columns particularly desirable.

EDUCATION.

A special feature of our paper will be its educational column, relating to matters affecting our common school system, the education of our youth, and the enlightenment of the masses.

FINAL

With this statement of our purpose and laudable endeavor, we hope we shall receive, as we shall always strive to merit, commendation and support. Identify with every interest of our State, proud of its history and its advantages, we shall untiringly work in its behalf; counting no exertion too great or service too onerous to command and insure success.
